

WANTED: Executive Director for torture truth commission

The North Carolina Commission of Inquiry on Torture is hiring a full-time Executive Director.

Thanks to Open Society Foundations, as well as North Carolina congregations and individuals, the Commission has the funding to gear up. We're planning a public launch after Labor Day.

Please circulate the job description to anyone you think may be interested.

This job is a great chance to help shape a bold democratic experiment at investigating the U.S. torture program, starting with its infrastructure in North Carolina. It is a ground-breaking opportunity to address the needs of survivors of CIA extraordinary rendition, including those left out of the Senate "torture report."

Thank you,
